Danny Fink is an entry level Industrial Hygienist that has experience performing exposure assessments for companies where occupational safety and employee health is a top priority. From his experience at a company that puts safety before all other aspects of work, Danny believes that occupational health and safety is key to keeping a company functioning at the highest level because healthy employees have greater potential to perform their daily tasks with excellence while having a smile on their face.

Danny has done independent contract work for Valpak Manufacturing Center, worked for Walt Disney World as an Occupational Safety and Industrial Hygiene professional intern, and is a Certified Occupational Hearing Conservationist (COHC). Danny's childhood MVP award in baseball and high school weightlifting record highlight his lifetime interest for physical activity and drive to become the best.

Danny obtained his BS in Public Health from the University of South Florida (USF) in 2014. He will graduate from USF May 2017 with his MSPH degree in Industrial Hygiene.
